Mini grant awards Keep Education a Priority in Sedalia School District #200 classrooms

Keeping Education a Priority is the motto of the Sedalia School District Foundation. A cornerstone of implementing that statement has been the mini grant program. Since 2010 the Sedalia School District Foundation has awarded $59,802 to Sedalia School District teachers and staff through mini grants. In 2014 Whittier High School business education teacher Jennie Guerrini and Horace Mann Elementary counselor Amy Dunkin co-wrote a grant creating a Service Learning Project for Whittier students to tutor students at Horace Mann and Heber Hunt elementary schools. The Whittier SKILLS team—Students

Whittier SKILLS team member Cheyenne Smith shows Horace Mann student Tiara Crutchfield how to check nines on her multiplication tables by using her fingers. In the 2014-2015 school year the SKILLS team academic materials, games, crafts and project supplies were purchased through a mini grant from the Sedalia School District Foundation. Kindling Individuals Learning Leading Success—travelled to the elementary schools to meet with selected children twice a week. Pairs spent an hour each visit working on academics and building camaraderie. They spent time on homework, especially subjects where the younger students might be facing challenges, then they spent time reading, coloring, playing games, or playing together on the playground. Whittier students got half a credit toward graduation for participation in the program. This school year the Whittier SKILLS team has expanded to visiting Washington, Skyline, Parkview and Horace Mann elementary schools and the Pettis County Co-op. They mentor in each building one day a week for about 60 minutes.

In August of 2015 Angela Richardson, a kindergarten teacher at Horace Mann Elementary, was awarded a mini grant for “Investigating Informational Texts.” She writes regarding the grant, “Kindergarten classrooms at Horace Mann will be utilizing the variety of nonfiction, informational texts awarded to teach about thematic concepts such as pumpkins, transportation, the human body and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) concepts. The informational texts will assist in developing critical thinking skills in students by deepening their understanding of the above topics and helping them to ask and answer higher-level thinking questions. Students will be introduced to the informational texts each week during Close Reads. Students will learn new vocabulary words and dig deep into the essential questions each text will focus on. Students will also work in cooperative groupings to discuss texts and complete projects.”

A total of $9,104.08 was awarded in mini grants to Sedalia School District #200 employees in August 2015. The grants include:

- Jessica Ball, Smith-Cotton High School, “Mini-Computer Area”
- Missy Arnold, Smith-Cotton Junior High, “21st Centuring Learning with Literature Discussion Groups”
- Mark Johnson, Whittier High School, “Creative Foods I & II”
- Grant Maledy, Smith-Cotton High School, “Marching Pads”
- Tera Thomas, Sedalia Middle School, “Aquaponic Farming”
- Angela Meyer, Heber Hunt Elementary, “Making Science Come Alive”
- Angela Richardson, Horace Mann Elementary, “Investigating Informational Texts”
- Jackie Curry, Amy Woolery and Megan Sparks; Skyline, Heber Hunt and Smith-Cotton Junior High Media Specialists; “Make, Create, Innovate!”

Capacity crowd fills Tiger Stadium at Homecoming 2015

It was a packed house at the Homecoming game on Friday, October 2, 2015, as the Smith-Cotton varsity football team defeated Clinton 28-7 to continue their undefeated season. Ten class reunions and annual luncheons were scheduled over Homecoming weekend, and classes were recognized during the football game. Earlier in the afternoon the S-C Homecoming parade made its way through downtown. The classes of 1952, 1975, 1985, 1990 and 1995, as well as the Cross Country team reunion, participated in the parade. On Saturday morning the five elementary schools provided entertainment during the annual pancake breakfast in the cafeteria at Smith-Cotton Junior High. Alumni were ready at 7:30 a.m. to tour their high school alma mater. The junior high music program provided music in the auditorium. Following tours at Smith-Cotton High School, Smith-Cotton 1973 graduate Kim Anderson, coach of the Mizzou men's basketball team, was presented the 2015 Distinguished Alumni Award.

1976 Diana Frisbie Nichols and 1975 Terri Vodicka Paul present 1973 Kim Anderson with the Sedalia School District Foundation Distinguished Alumni Award.

Smith-Cotton football fans win commemorative footballs

Smith-Cotton Junior linebacker Chaz Satnan presented footballs signed by the first Smith-Cotton varsity football team to play in Tiger Stadium to raffle winners Bob Satnan and Lennon Adams. The raffle was held at the Foundation tailgate party prior to the homecoming game. Bob Satnan is the communications director for the Sedalia

School District #200 and an avid Tiger sports fan. Lennon Adams is a third grader at Horace Mann Elementary School and the daughter of Smith-Cotton alumni Dorsey and Jennifer Willig Adams. The footballs and cases were donated by the David Furnell family. A third football, also signed by the varsity team, was donated to Smith-Cotton High School.
