Tiger Bash a Black vs. Gold battle on basketball court

Coaches, teachers, and staff from the Sedalia School District #200 faced off on the Smith-Cotton High School basketball court Jan. 27, 2018, at the Tiger Bash. The Black team was coached by ninth grade social studies teacher Mr. Ashley Young and consisted of recruits from the high school, Sedalia Middle School, and Parkview Elementary. Players were Derrick Hanson, Ethan Weller, Erica Stone, Zach Vandevender, Kelsey Griffin, Patrick Wilson, Morgann Gregory, Kevin Thomas, Jeremiah Baruxen, and Stephanie Jackson. The Black team started out strong and led for most of the game, but the Gold team wore them down in the end and came back to win. The Gold team was coached by Smith-Cotton Junior High principal Jason Curry and SCJH administrative assistant Holly Blackaby. The team consisted of players from the junior high and Washington Elementary. Assistant Superintendent Steve Triplett announced the game which was sponsored by Billie Barnes RE/MAX of Sedalia, the W-K Family of Dealerships, and Septagon Construction. Ben Jackson and Steve Knox volunteered as referees.

Before the game, Limbaugh Chiropractic Center sponsored a carnival for elementary and middle school students in the new auxiliary gym. Then elementary, middle school, and junior high students who had attended the 15th annual High Voltage dance clinic that morning entertained the Tiger Bash crowd before the teams took to the court.

During the game the high school pep band played crowd favorites, including "Sedville Will Shine Tonight," adding to the excitement. Half time entertainment included performances by the Smith-Cotton High School cheerleaders and the High Voltage Dance team. Proceeds from the Tiger Bash benefit the Sedalia School District Foundation.

Foundation board members sponsored Mr. Pollitt on the Tiger Bash t-shirt which said, "SSDF board members congratulate our top tiger Mr. Brad Pollitt 'Loyal and True...Hats off to you'." Mr. Pollitt has announced he will retire from the Sedalia School District in June 2018. Photo courtesy of Bob Satnan.
